

Supporting our local food economy COMMERCIAL KITCHEN

A commercial kitchen offers small local food producers access to equipment that complies with food safety regulations.

The space will be available for lease for specific periods to time by single or multiple producers. Compliance with food safety regulations enables small producers to sell their products through all available channels and increase options that support our local food economy.

